

References on CP Hip Development & Implications for Treatment

Sheila McNeill, Lead Physiotherapist, Leckey Sheila.mcneill@leckey.com

(Papers which are more relevant for Physical Therapy practice are in bold)

- 1. Yadav P, Shefelbine SJ, Pontén E, Gutierrez-Farewik EM. Influence of muscle groups' activation on proximal femoral growth tendency. Biomech Model Mechanobiol (2017) 16:1869–1883)
- 2. Robin J et al. A classification system for hip disease in cerebral palsy. Dev Med Child Neurol. 2009 Mar;51(3):183-92.
- 3. Soo B, Howard J, MD, Boyd RN, Reid SM, Lanigan A, Wolfe RN, Reddihough D, Graham HK. Hip Displacement in Cerebral Palsy 2006, Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery- VOL 88-A
- 4. Meyling CG, Ketelaar M, Kuijper M, Voorman J, Buizer AI. Effects of Postural Management on Hip Migration in Children with Cerebral palsy: A Systematic Review Pediatric Physical Therapy 2018; 30:82-91
- 5. Larnet P, Risto O, Hagglund G, Wagner Hip displacement in relation to age and gross motor function in children with cerebral palsy. J Child Orthop 2014;8(2): 129-134
- 6. Paleg GS1, Smith BA, Glickman LB Systematic review and evidence-based clinical recommendations for dosing of pediatric supported standing programs. Pediatr Phys Ther. 2013 Fall;25(3):232-47
- 7. Graham HK, Selber P. Musculoskeletal aspects of cerebral palsy. J Bone and Joint Surgery Br 2003; 85: 157-66
8. Greenwald AS, O'Connor JJ. The transmission of load through the human hip joint. Journal of Biomechanics 1971; 4: 507-28
9. Laplaza FJ, Root L. Femoral anteversion and neck shaft angles in hip instability in cerebral palsy patients. Journal of Pediatric Orthopedics 1994; n14: 719-723

10. Hagglund G, Lauge-Pederson H, Wagner P. Characteristics of children with hip displacement in cerebral palsy. BMC Musculoskeletal Disorders 2—7; 8: 101-6
11. Somerville EW. Persistent foetal alignment of the hip. Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery Am. 1957; 39-B: 106-13
- 12. Robin J, Graham HK et al. Proximal femoral geometry in cerebral palsy. Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery Am. 2006; 88: 121-29
13. Miller F, Bagg MR. Age and migration as risk factors for progression in spastic hip disease. Developmental Medicine and Child Neurology. 1995; 37: 449-455

